

MALBEC MADE FOR MEAT – THE FINAL LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, WE HAVE A WINNER!

CATENA ALTA MALBEC 2004 CATENA MALBEC 2004

Bodega Catena Zapata's Alta Malbec 2004 took top spot as the wine to have with meat in the Final of the Malbec Made for Meat Competition which took place on the 13th of September at the Gaucho Restaurant in Piccadilly.

It also won the award for Best with Lamb. In a clean sweep of sorts, the Catena Malbec 2004 won the Best with Beef award.

The 11 judges – Victoria Moore (Guardian), Natasha Hughes (Wine & Food critic), Jane Parkinson (Wine & Spirit), Anthony Rose (Independent), Tim Atkin MW (Observer), Richard Siddle (Harpers), Martin Williams (Operations Manager, Gaucho), Jamie Goode (Express), Mark de Wesselow (SquareMeal), Peter Richards (Wine Writer) and Thomas Woolrych (Senior Buyer, Laithwaites) - in a blind tasting rated each wine's compatibility with three different meats – Pork, Lamb and Beef.

PRIZE WINNERS

Overall Winner

Catena Alta Malbec 2004, Bodegas Catena Zapata, Mendoza
Submitted by Bibendum Wine Ltd

Best with Lamb

Catena Alta Malbec 2004, Bodegas Catena Zapata, Mendoza
Submitted by Bibendum Wine Ltd

Best with Beef

Catena Malbec 2004, Bodega Catena Zapata, Mendoza
Submitted by Majestic Wine Warehouse Ltd