

Wine Spectator

Vol. 5, No. 32 | Aug. 12, 2009

Insider

Marvin R. Shanken Editor and Publisher

Adrianna Vineyard 2006

94 POINTS

This powerfully rendered, with dark fig, black tea, melted licorice and plum sauce notes cascading over one another, while dense, loamy tannins provide support. Superdense on the finish, but with a long, supple texture that lets the fruit sail on.

Nicasia Vineyard 2006

95 POINTS

HOT WINES

This is dense and layered, with loads of braquised fig, currant paste, crushed plum and macerated blackberry fruit laced with licorice snap, black tea and spice notes. The long, broad finish has superb acidity buried deep, letting a floral hint skitter in the background. Shows impressive depth and range.